ABOUT THIS DECK

THE ROLE OF WIREFRAMES

Wireframes are annotated diagrams that detail the form and function of the site. They explore essential questions about the user's experience:

- What navigation is available?
- What information is shown on each page?
- What is the appropriate hierarchy of information?
- How does the user interact with the site?
- How does the site change to respond to user interactions?

Wireframes create a skeletal framework, laying a foundation for future design and content development phases. In order to focus on the fundamentals, wireframes simplify the presentation of each page—no color treatments, no images or graphics, and no specific text treatments. These types of decisions will be made during the design phase after the core structure is set. Please also keep in mind that these wireframes suggest the basic hierarchy of each page; exact placement and size of objects may shift during design.

HOW TO GIVE FEEDBACK

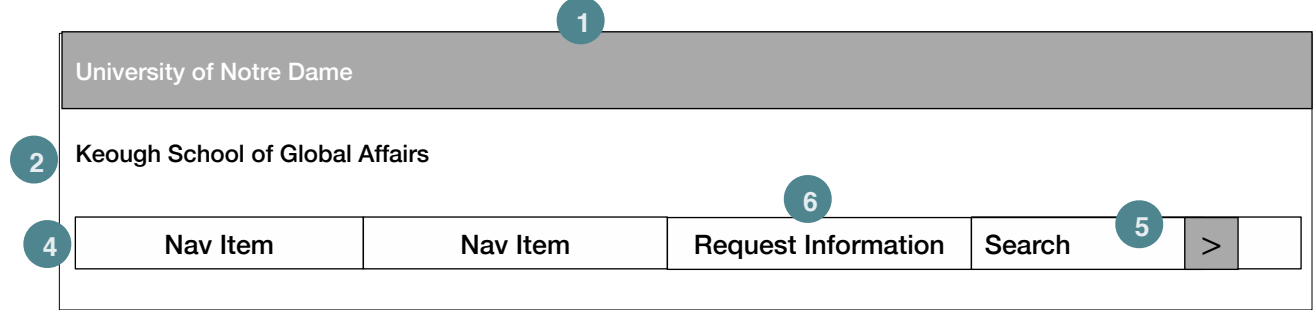

As you review this deck, please consider the following questions:

- How do you move from one page to another? Does the site flow make sense?
- How would you expect to interact with each page? Does the suggested functionality meet these expectations?
- Is the purpose of the page clear? Does the page meet its objectives?
- Does the page meet the user's information needs?
- Is any content missing?

NOTES

- 1 Brand header: This brand bar will appear as a common element at the top of every page. It has a predetermined style and the content is always "University of Notre Dame." Please see the Notre Dame brand guide for treatment.
- 2 School name: The school name appears at the top of each page. For desktop and tablet users, the name appears in the hero area, above the navigation. For mobile users, the name appears in the collapsed navigation bar. For all users, clicking the school name directs the user to the Keough homepage.
- 3 Mobile nav button: Visitors can toggle the full mobile menu by tapping the stack overlay icon. A shelf menu slides in from the right, overlaying or pushing the page content to the left. When expanded, the icon transitions to an "X," allowing users to collapse the menu.
- 4 Main menu: For desktop and tablet users, the main menu will follow the scroll, locking to the top of the browser window.
- 5 Search: While the site may not have deep content at launch, search functionality will allow users to easily find content as the site grows.
- 6 Request information: The button is an important feature as it will facilitate lead generation regardless of the visitor's location within the site. Once clicked, the user will be presented with a modal window showing the request information form.

NOTES

Note: On mobile, the hit area for footer links (locations, phone number, email, privacy guidelines) should match button standards.

- 1 Social media links: Links to the School's primary Twitter, LinkedIn, Facebook, and YouTube profiles.
- 2 Academic mark: School's graphic mark.
- 3 Back to top: (Mobile only) On press, the user will return to the top of the current page.
- 4 Ownership and contact content: Includes copyright, University, School, location, phone, and email.

- 1

Hero: The hero area of the homepage is a combination of elements designed to provide a strategic view of the interests and impact areas of Keough. Rather than featuring a standard carousel of statements, we will use this area to pose a question and then follow with a key statement of the School's point of view. B-roll (desktop) or image (mobile) will fill the width of the background.
- 2

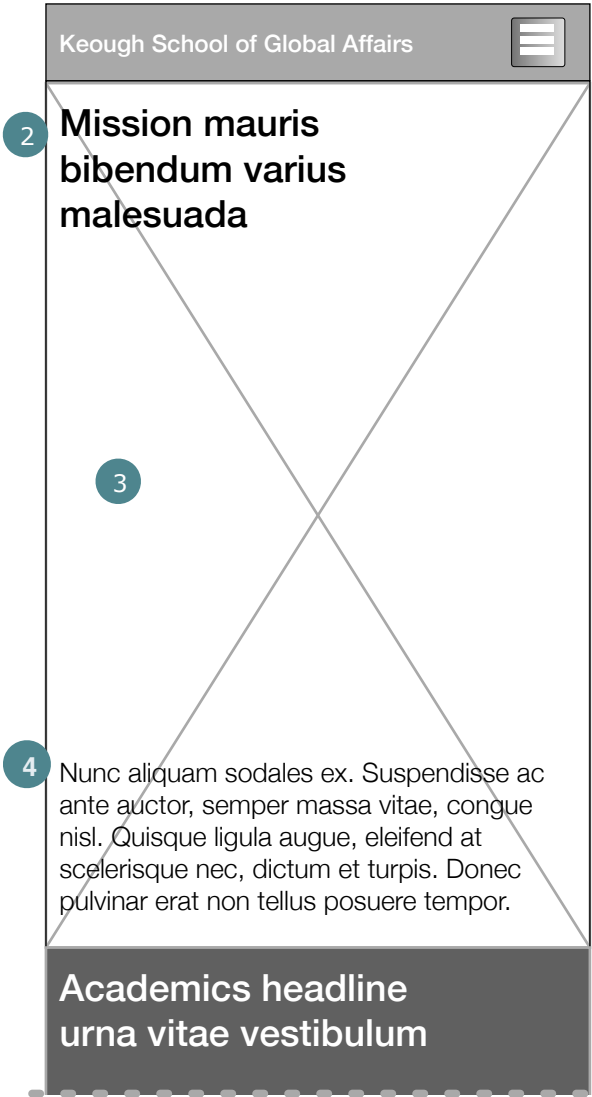

Headline question: For each topic area, a headline will be presented in the form of a question.
- 3

POV statement: Each question will be paired with an appropriate response.

DESKTOP

MOBILE

NOTES

- Primary collapsed nav bar: Once the user scrolls down any page in the site, the navigation bar will lock to the top and remain available at the desktop view.
- Big idea headline: Focused on the creative idea, inspiring involvement through the opportunity to make a difference.
- Hero animation: Leveraging the globe graphic, this element will react to the user's scroll, beginning from a state where the tiles are far spread apart, assembling and creating a sense of depth and rotation as the pieces come together to create the globe of tiles.
- Reasons to believe: Not a direct copy and paste of the mission, but a translation of it to public-facing content that creates a sense of global impact and inspires and solicited further inspection and, ultimately, involvement.

- 1

Academics headline: Headline that establishes the programs as opportunities.
- 2

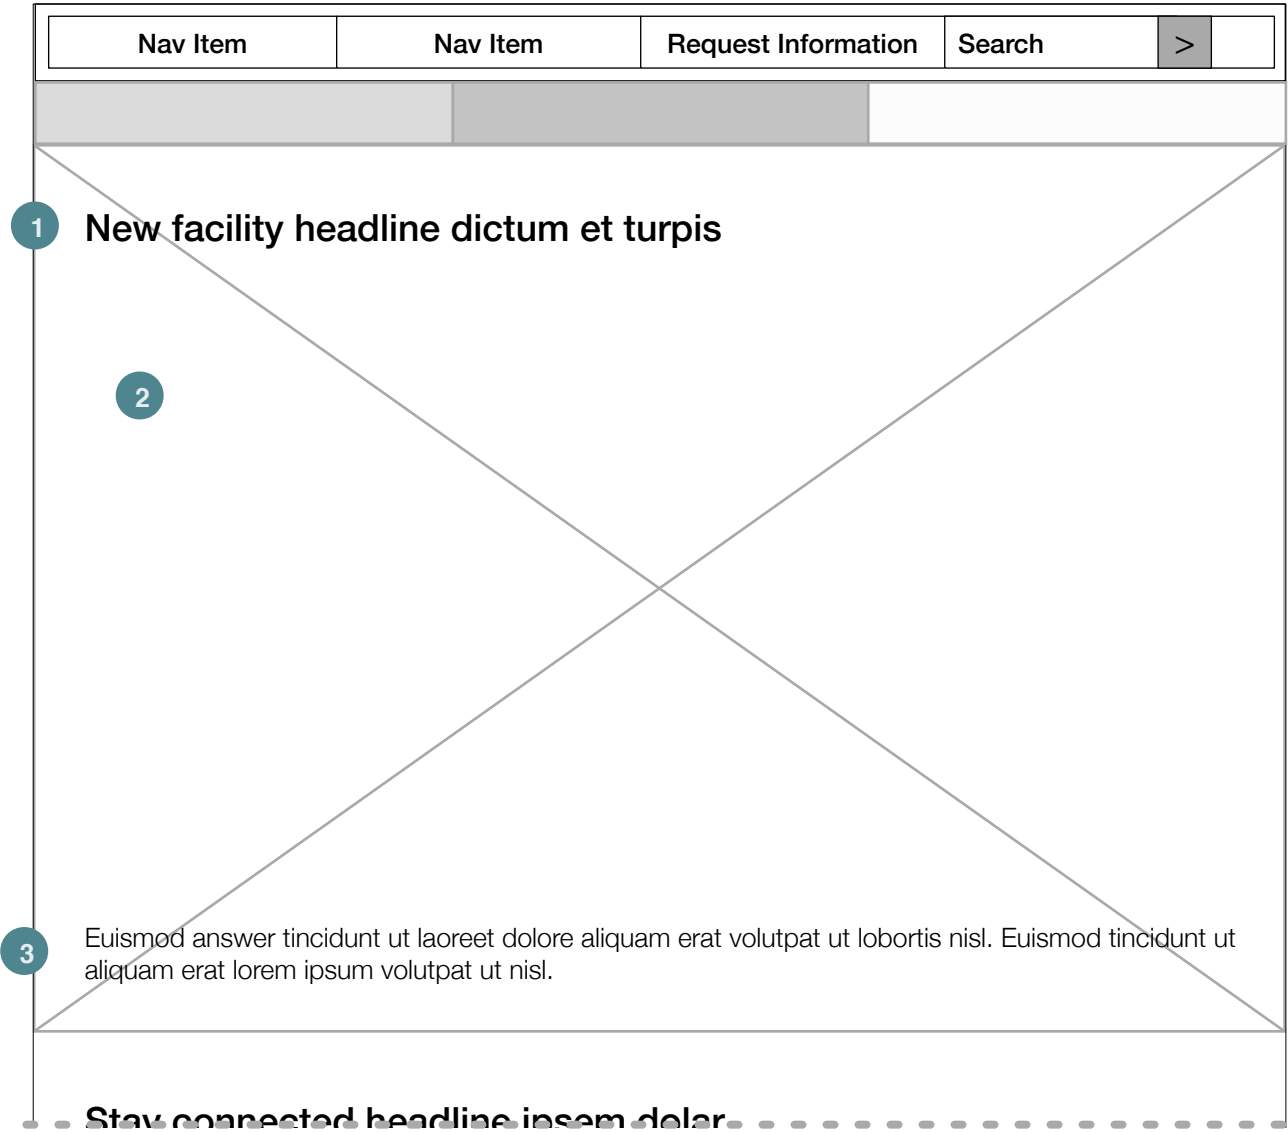

Academic area grid: this section should leverage the colors from the globe graphic as background to the tiles. On desktop and tablet, they will be presented in rows and columns. On mobile, they will be stacked. While these may change during the content strategy and development phases, the current content areas are:

1. Peace and Justice
 2. Global Development
 3. Civil and Human Rights
 2. International Studies
 5. Research
 6. Global Gateways
- 3

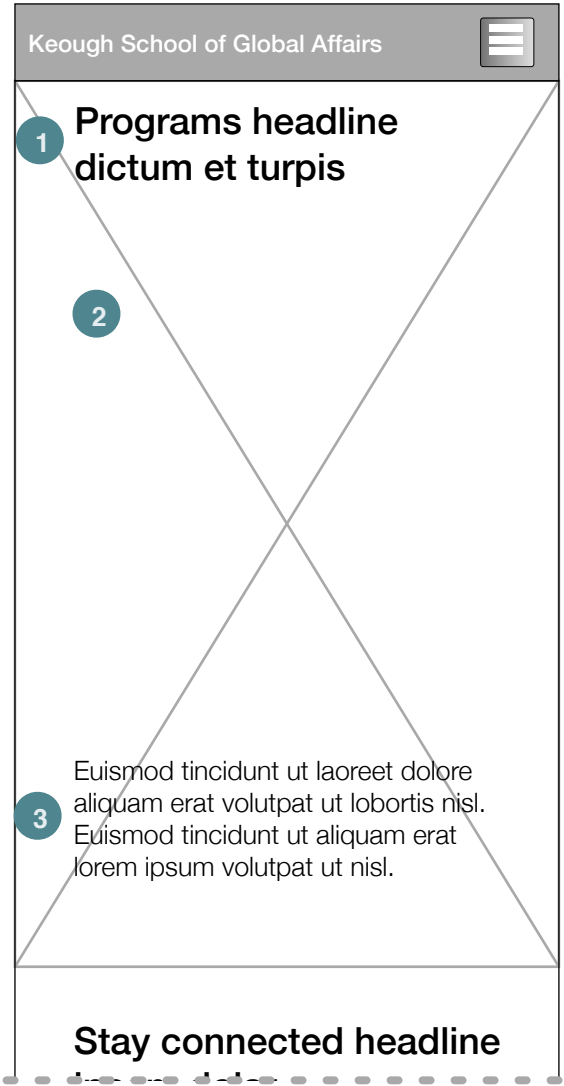

At launch, these tiles will provide enough information that telegraphs the direction of the academic areas. Once program content is finalized, links can be added to drive visitors to the appropriate landing page.
- 4

Academic area content: Headline and copy for each academic area.

DESKTOP

MOBILE

NOTES

- 1 Facility headline: Headline for the creation of the new building.
- 2 Section background image: Render(s) of the new facility on a carousel.
- 3 Copy: Short description of the facility and what it will mean to the School and students.

NOTES

1 Form headline and instructions: A solicitation to provide information for all audiences: faculty, prospective students, donors, employers, media, and at-large.

- 2 RFI form:
- Email address
 - Interest area fields, which include:
 1. Peace and Justice
 2. International Studies
 3. Global Development
 4. Civil and Human Rights
 5. Research
 6. Global Gateways
 - Audience types, which include:
 1. Student
 2. Faculty

- 1

Headline and Intro/Directions: Short 1-2 sentences about personnel and usage of this page's features. There is no image or video background in the hero; the page background will serve as the background element.
- 2

Filter widget: Icon and drop menu that filters profile tiles by type. The icon is not a gear, that is only illustrative. The menu items are:
1. Show All
2. Faculty
3. Staff
4. Faculty Fellows
5. Visiting Research Fellows
Upon selection the profile tiles are filtered to show only those that match the filter.
- 3

Profile teaser grid: Includes photo, headline, short description, and link to read more at the specific profile page. Tiles should fill as many to a row as possible, according to the display size, and should lightly resize to fill optimally.
